

Juice Bar

Working closely with the client the design quickly moved from a 2D concept through to fully developed 3D model.

The concept included a bespoke chilled display to keep product at optimum temperature and create a stunning focus for customers approaching the counter.

With a short time frame to work with the design quickly moved through initial build and performance testing before receiving final finishes ready for transporting.

Installed overnight in a live store environment the unit was ready for colleagues to merchandise and start the trading day. A great success the concept is now being rolled out across further sites.
